NAZIS LEAVING STALINGRAD

Seeks to Return Bates as Police Chief

COMMISSION SAYS LEAVE ENDS JAN. 14

Civil Service Board Warns He'll Lose Seniority and Pension Rights.

YEAR'S ABSENCE LIMIT

Denies Action Prompted By Persons Resenting Bell's Stand on Gambling.

The city civil service commission last night ruled that Meade K. Bates must return to his duties as police chief by Jan. 14, 1943, or forfeit seniority and possible pension rights.

"The ruling on Bates' leave of absence," Attorney George W. Biddle, commission president, explained, "was requested by Bates and the one-year limit was established on information from the state civil service commission. Tom Woodard, commission member, while in Columbus last week, was advised by the state board that such limits had been fixed in governing Columbus' municipal civil service commission."

Biddle said no provision for extension of the leave of absence beyond one year was established although council a year ago granted Bates a leave for the duration of the war to serve with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The Jan. 14 deadline fixed by the city commission carries a 10-day grace period.

Commission members today denied that political influence had prompted the action on the Bates ruling, or that it was brought about by persons resentful of Police Chief T. M. Bell's stand against gambling in Mansfield.

However, Biddle declared he was "apprehensive" of public reaction since the commission's action followed within a few hours the published statements of Chief Bell that tip sheets, coin-paying gambling devices and commercial bingo must be suppressed, and his statements

CLUBS LOCKED

Boston Closes 52 Night Spots as Fire Probe Continues.

BOSTON—(INS)—The Boston licensing board's padlocks today snapped shut on 52 nightclubs, some of them the swankiest in the city as an aftermath of the Cocoanut Grove disaster.

Meanwhile, as more victims were identified, the official death list was set at 476 after officials rechecked their lists, eliminating duplications. An unverified report told of ten FBI agents arriving in Boston to conduct a federal probe of the holocaust under orders of Chief Agent J. Edgar Hoover. Meantime, city, state, and county investigators prepared evidence for the grand jury out of material culled from 11 witnesses who testified at an inquest yesterday.

Yesterday it was determined that the "flash fire" was caused by gauze-like material hung from the ceiling which burst into flame and created an umbrella of fire for almost 1,000 guests in the establishment.

GRANTS WAGE INCREASE

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Acting with OPA approval the war labor board today officially granted a 44-cent daily wage increase to 30,000 employes of the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation, Pittsburgh.

Lieut. Comdr. Thomas Klakring (above), U. Klakring stated that one Sunday they approached shore close enough to watch the horse races at a big city track.

BUS CONGESTION GROWS IN CITY

Greater Loads Carried Today While Gas Stations Report Little If Any Business.

As gasoline rationing swung into its second day, Mansfield city buses were crowded to capacity again this morning and filling station operators of the city and county were wondering why they had come to work at all.

"The Mansfield Rapid Transit company had the biggest day of its history," G. F. Van Tilburg, superintendent, said today, "and today's loads are expected to show a slight increase over yesterday."

Filling station operators told a far different story, relating that sales had dropped to an all time low. A dozen stations, representing different oil companies and normally enjoying thriving businesses, were checked this morning. One reported it had no sales at all. Others reported a half dozen sales during the day.

Meantime, the newly established gasoline panel headquar-

Portsmouth City Employes Quit Service Department Jobs.

PORTSMOUTH — (AP) — One hundred employes of the city's service department went on strike today, demanding pay increases of 25 per cent. The men receive wages ranging from 47½ to 65 cents an hour.

City Manager James F. Parkinson told strikers he was in sympathy with their request for wage increases and that he would submit the strike demands to city council at a meeting tonight.

14 MISSING AS TUG SINKS IN LAKE ERIE

Coast Guard Rushes Cutters, Other Craft to Scene 15 Miles From Cleveland.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — The tug "Admiral" went down about eight miles off Avon Point early today, and her crew of 14 was missing, the coast guard reported as it sent cutters, tugs and lifeboats to the rescue of the barge Cleveco, which the tug had in tow.

Efforts were being made to bring the barge to either Lorain or Cleveland, and the coast guard requested the civil air patrol to scout Lake Erie waters for possible survivors or bodies. The scene was about 15 miles northwest of Cleveland.

The cause of the sinking was not known, a coast guard officer said.

The tug was operated by Cleveland Tankers, Inc., for the Allied Oil company.

The barge, which has no steering gear, reported it had dropped anchor off Avon Point and was drifting toward shore. Coast guard life boats from Cleveland and Lorain and one tug from each port were sent to the scene.

The licensed Tugmen's Protective association reported members aboard the tug on Sunday, and presumably still aboard when it sank, included John Swanson of Detroit, captain, and the following:

William Rocks, chief engineer, Cleveland.

Bertel Haahr, engineer, Milwaukee.

Bill Cowan and Harold Hiemmen, mates, both of Cleveland.

The Cleveland weather bureau authorized a statement that strong winds and freezing weather swept Lake Erie at the time of the mishap.

The Admiral formerly was named the George H. Meyer. It was an 89-foot wood-hulled vessel built in 1898.

The sinking was the most serious on Lake Erie since 18 men and women were lost in 1936, when the Canadian vessel Sand Merchant went down about a mile

DROP TO 5 DUE

Mercury Plunges Still Lower Tonight, Weatherman Says.

While winter won't officially begin until Dec. 22, it would have been hard to convince Mansfielders today that it's not already here.

Intensified by a brisk northwest wind, 14-degree cold gripped the city this morning and the mercury refused to move upward even a degree by noon.

Readings of five degrees above zero or lower were forecast for tonight and the weatherman gave no indication that the season's first cold wave will abate soon. Snow flurries were expected to continue throughout the day.

ADMITS SHOOTING HUNTER

TOLEDO—(U.P.)—Steve Oswald, 66, has admitted accidentally shooting Frank Sabo, 67, on a hunting trip Nov. 20, Sheriff J. M. Bridenbaugh of Defiance county reported today. Oswald said he stumbled and fell, discharging the gun.

Where Reds Press Offensive

Along the 800-mile line indicated on the above map the Russians today were pressing their winter offensive against the cold and weary German invaders. Hitler was reported withdrawing part of his army from Stalingrad (center) where the Soviets are now virtually besieging the Germans. To the north the Reds were closing in on Rshev. In the south the Russians continued their pressure on the Germans southwest of Grozny.

25 Firms Added to Honor Roll Of Pearl Harbor Bond Drive

With the campaign to enroll more Mansfield and Richland county industrial and commercial establishments under the 10 per cent war bond payroll deduction plan barely started, 25 more firms were added to the roll of honor today.

The factory and commercial concern drive is part of the December war bond sale activity, with the slogan "Remember Pearl Harbor—Buy Bonds." From the headquarters of the committee in charge of the December war bond sale, came word that this first list of 25—canvassing only started Monday—was only the fore-runner of a much larger total.

Some 200 concerns are being canvassed, and when final returns are in, it is expected that at least a majority of them will have signed up as "ten per centers."

To qualify for a 10 per cent rating, a firm must have either 100 per cent of its employes enrolled under the plan of payroll deduction for bond purchases, or the deductions must total 10 per cent of the firm's monthly payroll.

While the 10 per cent canvass was going on, plans were being completed today for the special bond buying drive on Monday, Dec. 7, first anniversary of Pearl Harbor, when the goal is $100,000 in outright bond purchases. Banks will shut their doors at noon for regular business and reopen at 12:25, exact minute of the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor a year ago. Bonds will also be sold at the Mechanics Building and Loan company, the Ohio and Madison theaters.

WLB PENALIZES STRIKING UNION

Takes Away Maintenance of Membership Contract.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — By unanimous decision, the War Labor board today for the first time took away the established maintenance of membership protection of a labor union.

Penalizing the AFL's Chemical Workers union for a three-day strike involving 10,000 workers, the WLB declared that the union had not exhibited "responsibility" in its relations with the East Alton Manufacturing company, a powder plant at East Alton, Ill.

The board provided that if the union should show "good faith and responsibility" after a six months probationary period, a new maintenance of membership contract would be granted.

CHANGES SET-UP

FDR Re-shuffles Oil Control, Keeps Ickes as Boss.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Roosevelt today reorganized the government's petroleum administration, but kept Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes in charge.

No details of the reorganization were available immediately, but the White House promised the text of the order as soon as possible.

The order, however, appeared to dispose of the plan to make Ickes secretary of labor and manpower chief. Authoritative sources have indicated that Ickes had turned down the offer of the new job.

The title of Ickes' new office will be "petroleum administration for war." The present office is called "office of the petroleum co-ordinator for war."

French U-Boat Reaches Oran After Run From Toulon.

LONDON — (INS) — The French submarine Le Glorieux, which escaped from Toulon when the Germans seized the port and prompted scuttling of most of the French fleet, has arrived in Oran, according to a dispatch to Reuter's.

The submarine escaped with three others, two of which previously reached North African ports. The fourth ship, the Iris, is interned at Barcelona.

WOLFF SEEKS INSPECTION BY FIRE MARSHAL

Says He's Dissatisfied With Conditions at Night Club and Bingo Hall.

Declaring he is dissatisfied with fire inspection reports, Service-Safety Director Fred B. Wolff said today he would ask early investigation by the state fire marshal of Radio City hall where bingo play was resumed last Saturday by Townsend club members and of the Ringside Night club, 28 East Third street.

Although advised by Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger that both amusement centers have complied with the state fire prevention code in providing two exits and other escape facilities, Wolff said that if Ray Gill, state fire marshal, did not direct an early examination of these two places he would specifically request such action.

Seeburger yesterday declared that the fire-proofed cloth texture placed over bare rafters on the second floor of the Ringside leading to the third floor entertainment section likely met with state fire prevention requirements but joined Wolff in criticizing Radio City hall conditions of which he said, "they're bad but it's likely we can't do anything about it under city laws."

Asked today concerning operation of the hall, Rudolph Hartman, rental manager of the Bird building, explained that the original lease was made to Ralph Hardy of the Richland county Republican committee and to Archie May for the sole use of Republican gatherings.

Later, Hartman explained, Hardy withdrew from the lease arrangement with May continuing to exercise lease rights. However, Hartman said he specified the room should be used for Republican meetings only and not for Townsend club purposes.

"I instructed May to investigate the fire hazards in Radio City Hall and he afterward assured me everything was in proper order," Hartman, who has been ill since September, explained.

May today declared that last Saturday night's bingo play was

Shelby Youth, 15, Sixth Boy Hunter Killed In Ohio

SHELBY — Earl Sweet, jr., 15, who stayed out of school to go hunting with his father and a friend near Shelby, today became the sixth youth under 16 years old to die in Ohio hunting accidents since the season opened two weeks ago. He is the second boy fatality in Richland county.

Shot accidentally in the stomach as he picked up a shotgun about 3 p. m. Tuesday, the youth died before a physician could be summoned. He was an eighth grade pupil in the Shelby school.

The boy was hunting rabbits with his father, Earl Sweet, and a companion, Roger White, and had just assisted his father across a ditch when the gun discharged.

Bicksler, the 225th member of the club, is recovering from a leg wound and reported "doing swell." A piece of shrapnel entered his heel when he was shot down during an aerial battle with a group of Messerschmidts. He landed safely and crawled to safety through the enemy lines.

Allies Sever Axis' African 'Escape Road'

Hitler Orders Part of Army to Quit Volga City Siege Area, Rushes Aid Frantically to Tunisia As Road to Tripoli Falls.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(UP)—Allied troops today were reported to have splintered the Axis position in Tunisia despite an all-out air battle and bitter land resistance, cutting communications between Bizerte and Tunis, between Sfax and Gabes on the east coast and between Tunisia and Tripolitania.

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler was reported withdrawing at least part of his armies from the bloody 100-day-old siege of Stalingrad today, while on the shores of ancient Tunisia the Allies cut off the vital Axis "escape corridor" to Tripoli.

The Soviet army newspaper Red Star said Stalingrad's defenders, folding back the weakening German siege lines, had recaptured a dominating hill on the southern side of the Volga metropolis and pushed out from two to five miles beyond the hill.

On the Tunisian front, German headquarters asserted that counter-attacking Axis troops "threw the enemy out of several villages" yesterday and dispersed Allied parachutists.

An Italian communique said Axis forces gained ground against Allied armored units and captured "some dozens" of Allied prisoners.

Significantly, neither Rome nor Berlin gave the scene of the action and again failed to mention that the key Axis strongholds of Bizerte and Tunis were virtually under siege and cut off from retreat.

Dispatches from North Africa said Hitler was frantically rushing reinforcements to Tunisia by sea and air in an attempt to stave off threatening disaster, even as American and French troops severed the coastal road some 200 miles south of Tunis, the capital.

Meanwhile, Hitler's Axis partner, Premier Mussolini, broke months of silence to warn the invasion-jittery Italian people that any weakening would mean Italy "would renounce forever its dream of being a great nation."

Bitterly, he assailed Prime Minister Churchill's blunt notice to the Italian people to get out of the war or get bombed out, and promised that Germany would help Italy with "powerful contributions" and "the joint Italian-German defenses will give the raiders a hot reception."

On the Russian front, Soviet dispatches reported that Hitler was pulling troops from Stalingrad to bolster other German forces now all but trapped and threatened with annihilation on the snow-covered steppes between the Don and Volga rivers.

The precariousness of the German siege armies was emphasized by Soviet reports that Hitler was now resorting to giant transport planes to supply his forces as the Russians blocked rail and road communications.

Red army headquarters reported the destruction of 50 tri-motored

BRIGHT: War Outlook Good as Japs Lose 5-to-1, Says Knox

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Viewing the war outlook as the brightest in three years, Secretary of Navy Knox disclosed today that Japanese casualties are believed five times greater than America's and that the United States Navy is larger and more powerful than "the day before Pearl Harbor."

Balancing the nation's books of war near the end of a year of fighting, Knox told the National Association of Manufacturers' convention in a prepared speech:

"We have expended a lot of precious ships and material, but we have exacted a toll the enemy can ill afford."

The navy secretary asserted that while Japanese casualty figures could not be trusted even "if they were published," United States intelligence officers estimate that since Dec. 7, 1941, to Nov. 25, "the Japanese in all theaters have lost in killed or permanently injured roughly 250,000 men."

Approximately 37,000, he said, are navy casualties or about 10 per cent of the estimated Japanese naval personnel. United States naval losses, he said, are about 1 per cent of the personnel strength and estimates of comparative loss and damage of ships and planes is "equally encouraging."

"We have a larger and more powerful navy measured in tonnage, air power or anything else," he added, "than the day before Pearl Harbor—or the day after Pearl Harbor. Production records have been broken on almost every type of craft and I might add that the navy uses more than 150 different types."

Acknowledging that in the war

RETORT: Coughing Duce Says Germany Will Reinforce Italy

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Premier Mussolini struck back angrily today to Prime Minister Churchill's warning that the Italian people should sue for peace and said the Italians "will not be inferior to British and Russians."

Reading extracts from Churchill's warning that Italy would be placed under "prolonged, scientific and shattering air attack," Mussolini said Churchill hoped to undermine the resistance of the Italian people.

"If this should happen the Italian nation would renounce forever its dream of being a great nation," the premier said.

Mussolini was heard coughing and breathing heavily as he delivered his speech to the Fascist chamber of corporations.

He promised that Germany would reinforce Italy with "powerful contributions" and said "the joint Italian-German defenses will give the raiders a hot reception."

Women and children are being removed from Italian cities and towns to leave fighters "masters of the situation," Mussolini explained.

"If there is a man who ever diabolically wanted this war it is the president of the United States," il duce went on.

"This warmonger forgot his repeated promises to American mothers not to allow any American blood to be spilled in Europe.

"It is logical that Japan did not

Council Takes Steps to Open Tin Can Collection In City

Taking initial steps toward the city-wide collection of tin cans for war salvage purposes, city council last night created a two-man salvage collection department and voted an increase in the personnel of the garbage collection department.

In creating the salvage department at the insistence of the War Production board, council authorized the purchase of a used truck for not more than $280 and the employment of two drivers at $150 a month each. This new agency may be self-sustaining with the government paying the city $7 a ton for salvaged tin, it was explained.

Two more driver-helpers at $150 a month each were approved for the garbage collection and disposal department at the request of Lester Linham, superintendent, who reported that this year's receipts for the city's collection service will yield at least $2,600 more than in former years.

With ashes collection service nearing, Linham and members of council caution against depositing empty tin cans in either ashes or garbage, the federal regulations requiring that householders flatten out the containers and pile them separately from other refuse.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Walter Pidgeon is an excellent actor but he can play Walter Pidgeon too. You saw a very good performance of Walter Pidgeon in "Mrs. Miniver."

Miniver was an English business man, a family man, a gentleman, a man's man, down to earth and good-humored. Pidgeon is all of these, only he's an American business man whose business happens to be acting.

Coons

Since "Mrs. Miniver" his name is considered one of the hottest, to use trade jargon, on the screen. Fans want Pidgeon pictures. They will get him again soon in "While Cargo," and so many films have been mentioned for him that he himself does not know what's next. Most likely: "Madame Curie," again with Greer Garson.

This would not be Hollywood if Pidgeon, now successful, had not once flopped here. He was a star in the musical craze of a decade ago, and disappeared with the craze. He went to Chicago and spent a year "trying to learn how to sing—I thought it only fair as I was supposed to be a singing star." But then he saw the old handwriting. He saw romantic singers who could still sing but who no longer looked romantic. He went to New York and became a straight actor.

When Hollywood beckoned him back from stage successes there, he could afford to say no. Universal wanted him for "Show Boat" with Irene Dunne and offered $1,000 a week, or $8,000 for the picture. They raised it to $1,500, and Walter still said "Don't be ridiculous." Pressed for his own price, he said $50,000. They fainted.

Quickly the word spread that Pidgeon was "a $50,000 man and refusing less." He got more offers, at his price, than he could handle. What nobody ever knew was that he would not have played "Show Boat" for any fee. He didn't want to sing.

He was selling bonds in Boston when Fred Astaire heard him sing at a party, suggested he try show business. The ex-bond salesman recently toured Canada, helping to put over the third Canadian Victory Loan. It was oversubscribed by $225,000,000. This was his first visit to his home town, St. John, New Brunswick, in 21 years.

He had left when his first wife died in childbirth. Their daughter, Edna (nickname "Pidge") now lives with him and the second Mrs. Pidgeon, the former Ruth Walker, in Beverly Hills.

His bond tour sent him traveling a month. When Pidgeon travels, unless it's on later-type trains, he sleeps little. He can't fit his six-feet-three into the average six-foot berth.

When traveling, too, he may be found in his hotel rooms washing his own socks. With a pair of the biggest feet in pictures—size 13 shoe—he wears size 12 socks which he has difficulty replacing. He washes his own for fear a laundry might shrink them.

REGISTRATIONS WILL COMPLETE DRAFT SYSTEM

Officials Point Out Program Could Serve For Peace-Time Conscription, If Needed.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Machinery for universal peace-time military service will be virtually complete, according to state draft officials, when the last of the nation's 18-year-olds have registered by New Year eve.

No more mass registrations of manpower will be held after the sixth which is for youths born between July 1 and Dec. 31, 1924.

The president's proclamation of the sixth registration provides that "during the continuance of the present war, those who were born on or after Jan. 1, 1925, shall be registered on the day they attain the eighteenth anniversary of the day of their birth."

Thus after the first of the year, draft spokesmen said today, the manpower of Ohio and the nation will register as soon as they become eligible for military service.

"At present the whole draft administrative system is limited to the duration of the war," said one official. "But if congress and the nation decide to have universal conscription after the war congress need only strike out the phrase in present regulations which limit them to the end of the present war."

"We have the system of local boards; we have the machinery to register and induct men when they become eligible for service; the whole draft system could operate in peace time with a few technical changes in the basic law."

Youths born July 1 through August 31, 1942, will register at the local draft board or registration place during the week beginning Friday, Dec. 11; those born Sept. 1 through Oct. 31, 1924, will register during the week beginning Friday, Dec. 18; and those born in November and December, 1924, from Saturday, Dec. 26 through Thursday, Dec. 31.

TAXES POUR IN

Personal Property Payments Reach $201,328.

Collection of Richland county personal taxes for the last half of 1942 reached $201,328 today as the first day after the deadline for payment brought in returns of $18,000.

More returns were in the mail today and County Treasurer Charles Payne, estimated that the total amount collected would be considerably more than the charge of approximately $184,000 since a number of taxpayers paid their full year's bill.

Collections so far for general taxes amounted to $174,248 while those for classified totaled $27,080. The deadline for payment was Nov. 30.

ORDER VICTORY CORPS INSIGNIAS

School Officials Act, Plan To Attend Institute To Solve Problems.

An order had been placed today for 600 sets of insignias for use by the Senior high school Victory corps.

Glenn G. Rohleder, principal, in announcing that the order, once delayed, had been placed, said that the Victory corps organization is progressing at the school.

He said that he planned to attend one of a series of Victory corps institutes being held throughout Ohio this month for the purpose of explaining purposes and organization of such programs.

He said that problems have been encountered in organizing the program here and asserted the institutes would help to solve them. Where to place pupils wishing to join the corps but who are under physicians' orders to be excused from gymnasium classes is one of the main problems here. Corps membership requires gymnasium classes under the present plan.

At the next corps committee meeting this week, chairmen of the five service divisions will discuss plans for presenting the first insignias to the pupils.

Meanwhile the military training classes started last Monday under the supervision of Russell Moore, American Legion vice-commander and captain of the Legion cadets who are assisting him, are continuing with the daily practice after school.

Santa's Blitzed By Wage Ceilings, Retailers Report

NEW YORK—(INS)—Santa Claus is certainly being "blitzed" in this war!

First it was priorities and now it's wage stabilization.

The National Retail Dry Goods association today is seeking permission from the War Labor board for two of its mid-west member firms to pay their store Santa Clauses $25 instead of $20 a week.

Santa Clauses won't work for less than $25 it seems, while wage ceilings make it impossible for stores to pay them more than the $20 they received last year.

The stores are waiting with interest to see if the WLB still "believed in Santa Claus."

AUTOS OF FUTURE WOULD BURN COAL, IF EXPERIMENT SUCCEEDS

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — The automobile of the future may run on coal instead of gasoline.

The Battelle Memorial Institute, announcing receipt yesterday of what it termed the coal industry's largest contract for experimental work, said it would seek to develop power for internal combustion engines by using pulverized coal for fuel. (Automobiles use internal combustion type motors.)

Ralph A. Sherman, the institute's research director, said this was but one of a series of studies seeking new sources of fuel power for war industries which were provided for in the contract with Bituminous Coal Research, Inc., an agency of the National Coal association and bituminous industry.

Sherman said the contract also called for these investigations:

Conserving coal by more efficient use in industrial and domestic power and heating plants; selection of available coal and proper burning equipment for new war plants; development of the use of pulverized coal in forge furnaces; application of pulverized coal to radiant tube and other industrial furnaces;

Complete conversion of coal into fuel gas by chemical and physical means, development of chemical dust-proofing of coal to replace present oil treatment; creation of new designs in coal-burning railroad locomotives; conversion of steam plants from other fuels to coal.

Boots! Boots! Boots! With the advent of rain and snow the march is on for any and all types of rubber boots remaining in Mansfield shoe stores. One store reported more than 80 pairs of the low heeled rubber boots were sold in a short time with continual requests coming in for more. So far no orders have been issued giving "retreads" for overshoes, but a lot of people have decided to take better care of their present pair.

Not only are the grown folks deluging the Mansfield postoffice by the earliest Christmas mailing spree in history but the youngsters are doing their share as well. Letters to Santa Claus are finding their way into mail boxes throughout the area served by the local postoffice while others are speeded on their way by dropping them directly into the postoffice mailing slot. "Some of them are cute and some of them are pathetic," said Postmaster H. E. Homberger, indicating that all such letters are read.

In case anyone is in doubt as to the source of the venison for the annual Scout Widows' party Monday evening, Charlie Kimmel furnished it as he has the past 11 years. Several weeks ago he and Floyd Dent went on a hunting trip for the deer and almost came back without any. However on the last day of the trip they did find two young deer which delighted the palates of the 150 attending the dinner. If the celebration is discontinued for the duration, Kimmel says there will again be the venison dinner, after the war.

Tastes of the younger set don't appear to be changing much if reading material is any indication, Miss Ruth Culbertson, librarian at Senior high school, said today. Girls are continually calling for that popular book by Sally Benson, "Junior Miss." They also still like to read about "kids" their age. Boys at Senior high go for adventure books, and the one in greatest demand now is "Tally-Ho!" by Arthur G. Donahue, dealing with the tale of a middlewestern boy who leaves the farm to join the R. A. F.

PUTS CURB ON MEAT SALES IN JANUARY

Ration Book No. 2 Expected To Be Issued This Month at Schoolhouses.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The office of price administration today outlined in detail its New Year's gift to the American public — the "point rationing" system which will be used to dole out meat about mid-January.

Already employed in Britain and Germany, the new program will involve the issuance of war ration book No. 2, probably through schoolhouse registrations later this month, and will require housewives to learn to buy with two kinds of currency—money and point-stamps.

Outside of meat, OPA refused to predict what other items would be distributed under the point system, except to state that it will be used for "certain new rationing programs."

It was self-evident, however, that the program would be available for clothing rationing, if such a step becomes necessary. Both Britain and Germany ration clothing under the point system.

Officials stated flatly, however, that point rationing will not replace straight coupon rationing of sugar, gasoline and coffee. In fact, the straight coupon plan may be extended to other new rationing programs where suitable, OPA declared.

The simple coupon system was selected for sugar because it is a standardized article that almost everyone uses and the supply is large enough to give everyone a share big enough to be useful, OPA explained. In addition, there is no widely used substitute that could be exhausted by people rushing to buy it in place of sugar. The same conditions are true for gasoline and coffee, OPA said.

Point rationing, officials said, is a system of rationing a group of related or similar commodities which can be substituted for one another in actual use. Breakfast cereals — oatmeal, cornflakes, branflakes—and articles of clothing fall in this category.

War ration book No. 2 will consist of four pages of blue stamps and four pages of red stamps. Each color will be used for a different point rationing program. The pages will contain 24 stamps, lettered from A to Z and numbered either 8, 5, 2 or 1.

Each consumer may "spend" his points to buy any of the items in the point-rationed group in any way he likes. After "spending" all of his points for the month, however, he will not be able to buy any of the items until the next ration period begins.

In all cases of point-rationed commodities, a low point value will be assigned to articles that are more plentiful, OPA said. The point value of any commodity can be lowered or raised to encourage or discourage buying.

75 Senior High Pupils Helping In Yule Buying Rush

Approximately 75 pupils at Senior high school yesterday began helping downtown stores with the Christmas buying rush and more than 25 others will begin working after Dec. 14, J. C. Stout, co-ordinator of the distributive education at the school, said today.

As a part of the service rendered by the 31 distributive education pupils who have been working after school hours since September, Stout offered to assist the stores in obtaining extra help this month. A three to four hour period of special training was given to any Senior high pupil who met the requirements.

Boys and girls wanting to work were asked to fill out blanks and those who had better than a "B" grade average were permitted to be employed starting Dec. 1. Those having less than a "B" average are to wait until Dec. 14. All class room study that is missed, is made up later, Stout said.

Daily requests for more clerks or helpers are being received at the school and pupils may still sign up if they wish to work under this plan, Stout stated. More than 15 stores are employing the pupils.

JUDGE KALBFLEISCH IS TOURIST CLUB SPEAKER

Tells About "Our Community War Efforts" at Meeting at Women's Club Tuesday; Stresses Mansfield's Strategic Value.

AT LAST evening's meeting of the Tourist club, which was attended by 20 members, at the Women's Club, Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, chairman of civilian defense, was introduced by Mrs. Harry Bowers as guest speaker.

Judge Kalbfleisch used "Our Community's War Efforts" as his topic. He discussed the statute passed in 1916 creating a Civilian Defense Council, its work, and the present board appointed by President Roosevelt in 1941, that form a National Defense Council. Nine councils have been formed to correspond with the nine U. S military corps areas of long standing.

Due to the strategic value of Mansfield, Judge Kalbfleisch impressed upon his audience the importance of Civilian Defense, presented the requirements of the organization, and outlined the nature of the work to be carried out by the different divisions. The various statisti given in the vital protective measure were especially interesting to the members of the club.

Stressing the fact that the airplane is the most important factor in the war, Judge Kalbfleisch told that consequently an elaborate defense set up is needed for the civilian.

Two reasons cited for attack by enemy forces on civilian population were (1) destruction of war production equipment, and (2) demoralization through civilian population causing hysteria and disorganization of the public population. This informative talk for the advancement of social welfare and education to the public was followed by a question and answer period.

The next meeting of the club will be Dec. 15 at the Women's Club, with Mrs. J. C. Stout as hostess.

Chapped Skin Needs Gentle Treatment

One more beauty worry is added to those of the woman whose skin fluffs away in scales. We know that the human hide is ever in a state of decay and renewal, but why should the epidermal coat go plumb crazy and overdo the business? A normal skin sheds, but in such tiny flour-like particles that the surface remains soft, smooth, velvety.

Face, hands, even the arms and legs can become so rough and sensitive that the condition is most unpleasant. In severe cases, an intolerable itching is present; that requires medical attention. This annoying state sets up after the bath, as a rule. The entire body surface should be massaged lightly with a bath oil. Mineral oil will serve, if the balance in the beauty budget is low. It should be wiped away with an old soft towel.

A dry atmosphere in the home will cause moulting of skin scales. The dry conditioned house can be kept moist. When steam heat is use, water containers should be placed on every radiator. And kept full. The air will take up the water with surprising rapidity. Overheated offices cause skin irritations. The wage earner can't do much about that, but she can be faithful to the cold cream, applying it freely after she washes her complexion at bed time.

People who live near the sea where fogs roll in seldom have dry skins. The cutaneous fabric thrives on moisture. Moisture and oil. The two make an effective combination. So cream your face well before taking your bath. Also cream it afterward.

The woman with the dry skin should experiment with various soaps. Even the best of soaps may not be the best choice; what's good for one may not do for the next. If no soap proves satisfactory try this method of face washing: use a cleansing oil, removing it with tissues. Then apply a heavy cream and let it remain on. Dip a heavy wash cloth in warm soap sups and pass lightly over the flesh. The cream will act as an agent of peace between skin and lather.

Weather changes affect the skin to a surprising degree. During the summer season, when sweat and sebaceous glands are active, we hear few complaints from the Drys. Along comes the first chill wind of winter and the howling begins.

In rare cases a skin will not accept soap or cream. One must resort to a cleansing meal. You will find them on cosmetic counters. The principle ingredient is usually oatmeal ground to a powder. Dip the washcloth in warm water, sprinkle the meal over it, go over the flesh lightly.

It sometimes happens that the skin is dry because the diet does not include enough fat. So, if you are victim of this trouble, put plenty of butter on your bread,

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢

Season Comes For Oysters In Patties

By BETSY NEWMAN

Oysters are a good substitute for meat. There are numerous ways of serving them, as you know. How about patties or timbales? You can buy the cases or make them of short pastry, baked on muffin tins turns upside down.

Today's Menu.

Oyster patties or timbales
Candied sweet potatoes
Stewed Tomatoes
Mixed vegetble salad
Lemon pie
Tea

Oyster Patties or Timbales.

Prepared timbales or patties
2 tbsps. butter
3 tbsps. flour
1 pt. solid oysters
1 c. milk and cream mixed
Salt and pepper
1 tsp. lemon juice

Scald oysters in their own liquor after picking them over carefully. Blend butter and flour in saucepan until smooth, add cream and milk slowly and stir until boiling. Cook 5 minutes and then put in oysters with as much liquor as will make sauce the consistency of thick cream. Season, add lemon juice, and fill timbale cases just before serving. You may serve oyster mixture over toast if you prefer. Serves 4.

Lemon Meringue Pie.

½ c. sugar
4 tbsps. cornstarch
¼ tsp. salt
1½ c. water (or milk)
2 egg yolks
½ c. lemon juice
Grated rind 1 lemon
2 egg whites

Sift dry ingredients, add water or milk and egg yolks and stir until dissolved. Cook in double boiler, stirring frequently, until thick (about 15 minutes). Add lemon juice and rind and beat well. Cool and turn into either a baked or crumb crust pie shell (8-inch size), cover with meringue made of the egg whites beaten stiff with 2 tablespoons powdered sugar, and brown in oven.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"I hope you both will forgive me," Georges said, "if I do not mention the plebeian name by which I am known over here. It would mean nothing to you, and I loathe it."

His voice was again husky, as it had been in the restaurant.

"Over here," Mary repeated quickly, and I saw that she already was acting upon the cue I had given her. "You are not then an American?"

"Unfortunately, no," he said, "but I hope to remain over here for what is left of my life."

Mary's eyes went over him with a questioning, almost insolent look; just the attitude she would have adopted, I thought, if I had not told her of Georges' identity.

Offended Dignity.

"Where is Grandpa Spencer?" she asked me abruptly.

"In the suite adjoining this," I answered. "His man Adams is with him."

"Oh, everything's okay, then!" she said, with a relieved air.

"I assure you, Mademoiselle," Gorges said, with an air of offended dignity, "that your aunt has incurred no danger by her so great kindness in receiving me."

"I am glad to hear it," Mary said. "All her family look out for her constantly, because we know she never uses any caution when her sympathies are aroused."

"I can well understand your fear for her," he replied, "but God will never permit any harm to come to her. She is one of His own angels."

"There is a quaint old proverb in this country," Mary retorted, "which you probably never heard. It runs 'God helps those who help themselves,' and I use it a lot."

"And very wisely, I am sure," he said. Then I intervened to stop Mary's baiting.

"You wanted to see me about something special, Mary?" I asked, and Georges rose abruptly.

"Perhaps I would better go," he said, but sank back into his chair when Mary said quickly:

"It's nothing the whole world can't hear. It's just that I'm so thrilled about the way Steve's understudy, John Hayes, got his teeth into the role today."

Georges leaned forward in his chair, and I saw that his interest in what she was saying had outweighed his caution.

"I have seen your play, Mademoiselle," he said, "and I have seen your leading man, both at the theater and at the restaurant. You speak of his understudy. Has anything happened to him? I trust not."

He spoke the last three words as if he were saying "I sincerely hope so," and Mary, who had been watching him furtively, leaned forward in her chair.

"Why the solicitude for my leading man, Georges?" she asked, speaking his name with drawling emphasis.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

NEITHER ONE FINESSES

SOME POINTS of play are so clear to the expert that there is no chance at all they will be missed by the leading devotees of the game. One of these is refusing to finesses when doing so is marked as a disastrous procedure because of inferences from what has gone before. Players who finesse from force of established habit, without considering the possible consequences, pay dearly for the lack of thoughtfulness.

	♠ A 9 6 2 ♥ 10 7 ♦ 9 7 6 4 2 ♣ A 4
♠ Q 7 5 3 ♥ 9 3 ♦ K 10 3 ♣ K Q J 9	N W E S	♠ K J 10 4 ♥ A 8 5 ♦ 5 ♣ 10 8 7 3 2
	♠ 8 ♥ K Q J 6 4 2 ♦ A Q J 8 ♣ 6 5

(Dealer South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	4 ♥

That was the bidding by civilians at one table of a team of four match in the Metropolitan Championships in New York. At the other table, where an all-soldier team was North-South, Corporal Morrie Ellis, formerly No. 1 ranking player of the nation, bid 4-Hearts at once, and Lieut. Col. E. O. Keller, formerly of Pittsburgh, made a very sound pass despite his two aces.

Now see what can happen if the declarer is a finesser from habit. West led the club K to the A and the heart 10 was led from dummy. East took his A and returned the diamond 5. If an automatic finesser plays the J or Q, West will win and return the diamond 3, East ruffing for the defenders' third trick, and a club to the J will set the contract.

But both Corporal Ellis and the declarer at the other table reasoned when they saw East switch to the diamond 5. His normal return was a club to West's marked Q, so East clearly had some good reason for the diamond switch, and that could only be because he had a singleton. Reckoning thus, both declarers came in with the diamond A, dropped the outstanding trumps in a couple of rounds, then gave up tricks to the diamond K and club J, making their contracts.

Tomorrow's Problem.

What is the best playing plan for 4-Spades on this deal if West leads the heart 9 to the A of East, who bid the suit and the 5 is returned?

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, December 3.

A day of memorable and important events is read from a very interesting chain of sidereal operations, all making for the stability and endurance of the fortunes and general well-being. This may be owing to sound principles and good judgment, well-directed energies and skills, as well as the full co-operation and substantial support of superiors, elders and probably the public, should its service and promotion be properly estimated. It is an opportunity for applying the best efforts on a basis of sagacity and proper values. There may be rewards, bequests or other sound emoluments or gifts.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which affairs and major interests may be solidified, soundly promoted and put on a firm and enduring basis, for growth and expansion. This by sound principles, wise acumen, well-directed effort and industry, as well as by the advice and substantial support of superiors or those in place and power. Should public welfare or service be involved there may be sufficient cooperation to produce desired results, with proper recognition and rewards for fidelity and merit. Bequests, gifts, pensions, or other financial rewards may assure happiness and sustained security.

A child born on this day should have many excellent and solid traits and characteristics making for full appreciation of fidelity, industry and sound principles and clever tactics. It may inherit and enjoy a long and happy life.

Develop Fancy In Child to Aid Speech

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.

Think of the friends you have whom you like to listen to in conversation and whose letters you enjoy reading. Don't they have a keen imagination? Some of your most brilliant friends who lack imagination may be dull and boresome. Some people, of course, let their imagination run away with them. They need a bit more balancing with realities. But no matter how many facts are in their heads they may be very uninteresting without a good imagination.

The best time to cultivate imagination is between the age of two and five or six. Fancies are most free and active for the youngster then. His world is full of fairies, dwarfs and giants. Usual things he easily turns into whatever he desires and even out of nothing he creates at will. Unmindful of the laws of gravitation, he can sit upon the moon, or ride upon the wind or ocean waves.

Mistaken Belief.

Not a few leaders in the education of young children believe in keeping all stories that appeal vividly to the imagination away from children. They recommend giving them only hard, cold facts. They even try to annihilate old Saint Nicholas and rob the child of the joys to be had with Santa Claus.

Fortunately they only fool themselves. Nothing can destroy Santa for the little child. In my judgment, those who would rob the little ones of the fanciful and cram him full of the factual and the here-and-now, deny him a good education and let his imagination starve when it is keenest.

What the child from 2 to 5 needs is parents with imagination who don't hamper him in his flights of fancy but who help start them through reading folk lore and other stories to him daily. So treated, he will be inclined to talk a great deal to, and about, the things and persons of his imagination. From the favorite stories he hears read over and over again in exactly the same words, he gains in mastery of words and phrases; he grows in ease and forcefulness of speech.

A Mother's Letter.

Recently I heard from the mother of a girl 4½ years old whose imagination was fostered in the way I have suggested. The mother says this child talks almost constantly about the home, creating all the while. To quote:

"I read to her every day and that gives her more words and more to talk about. She can say lots of the stories and poems I have read, word for word. . . .

"I am enclosing a copy of what I took down while she was talking one night after supper. I was in the diningroom and didn't say a word to her as I was busy writing. She was in the living room and nursery, back and forth. She used 1,300 different words in 30 minutes and was still going when I stopped writing."

I wish I had space to give what the child said. If you have a little child, take down some of her running talk as this mother did. It is great fun. It encourages them to create still more. Besides, see what one can learn from such procedure.

You may have a selected list of books from which to read to the baby and young child, without cost, by writing me in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it. Already several thousand mothers have written for this list.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

"We got a transportation problem," grins Harry the Merry Mehock, "the problem of transporting our grade school bucketballers across town from one place to another.

"But we got the problem olved. We ain't gonna transport 'em. We're dividing the town in half—north and south—and playing our grade league schedule in two divisions.

"At the end of the season the champions of the north and south will play for the city title."

Mehock maintains that there really is a problem, pointing out that it's a long way from Bowman school to Johnny Appleseed and back again.

But Harry is a guy who likes championship games, and I rather suspect that the chance of a playoff series between the north and south winners had more than a little to do with the new war-time plan.

Of those things he never wearies,
Those events called "title series."

Mehock is still trying to get the district high school track meet for Mansfield next spring, but what is worrying him right now is the question of whether there will be a district and state meet. And he's even more worried about the chances of drawing up a regular track schedule.

"It's a bigger problem than basketball," says Harry. "We can take ten players on a basketball trip without much trouble, but we've got to take at least 20 on a track trip. And that gets to be a problem.

"Of course we can always have telegraphic meets, but that's no fun."

Harry has just learned that Jim Burrage, depended on as a mainstay for next spring's Tyger track team will be counted out by the age limit, and may even be on his way to the army by that time.

"Burge" will be 20 years old on March 26, and ineligible for further high school competition. But he'll be able to play out the string with the basketball team.

Held up by the war, John Simpson junior high cagers finally start practice today. The Bulldogs' gym has just been cleared of tables used in gas rationing registration.

College Quints Use Frosh

Ohio Schools Carry on With War Time Problems.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—This is going to be a basketball season of upsets in Ohio.

There'll be up-ets on the hardwood courts, with at least a half dozen teams making strong bids for the conference crown, and transportation difficulties are expected to upset the schedules.

A survey of eight of the 20 conference teams disclosed that everywhere team managers are planning to carry out a full basketball program, but all are worried how they're going to travel with gasoline rationed and bus chartering prohibited.

Most schools will take advantage of a new conference ruling to use freshmen cagers, but not Wooster and Muskingum, two championship contenders.

Coach E. M. Hole at Wooster has seven members of last year's squad and six outstanding sophomores from which to mold another strong Scot team. Four of the veterans, Capt. Richard Sproull, Dale Hudson, Jerry Katherman and Harry Eicher, were regular starters last season. Roger Stoneburner, Don Halter and Dick Craven are returning lettermen.

Muskingum is likely to have a veteran squad of six-footers. It has five senior and two junior lettermen and they will have to battle eight talented sophomores for starting positions.

With an abundance of fine material, neither Wooster nor Muskingum coaches felt they would have to call on freshmen.

Capital, which won 14 out of 15 games last year, has four of its regulars back but the veterans are getting some stiff competition in practice sessions from three freshmen candidates.

Returning from last year's starting Capital lineup are Jim Carlisle, Bob Kalsh, Fred Bernlohr and Herb Shrider. Johnny Young, Paul Jackson and Jim Henley, all freshmen, are battling sophomore Dick Ott for the center spot vacated by the graduation of Bob Geist, all-conference center in 1941-42. Ott stands six feet, four inches.

Coach William F. Bernlohr said his problem was one of fitting a huge quantity of material into a winning combination.

Kent State may have its best team in years. Six veterans, six sophomores and two freshmen make up Coach G. D. (Rosy) Starn's squad.

In the Kent State lineup will be Ted Tucker, the team's high scorer last season, and Bob Hein, a six-foot, three-inch center.

Cage prospects are bright at Marietta college. The Pioneers will have a new coach for the first time in 14 years, John Callihan, former Fairmont (W. Va.) state luminary, having replaced Coach Frank L. (Duke) Hayes, now a captain in the army air corps.

Five Marietta veterans are back from last year's better than average squad. They are, Capt. Fred Amuine, Fred Dunlap, Bob Skipton, Ray Moon and Bill Fenton. Among freshmen expected to push the talented lettermen for positions are two brothers, Dean and Lewis Morgenstern of Lawrence O.

Five lettermen also reported to Coach Sid Jenkins at Denison university. Capt. Robert Gray heads the quintet with lanky John Gwinn, a forward expected to vie for state scoring honors. Other veterans are John Lochnert, Tim Wuichet and Dick Marquardt.

Denison also will use freshmen, with Edward Rupp, William Weidemaier and Bob McGinnis having the inside track.

Two of the smaller conference schools, Ashland and Findlay, have encountered manpower problems.

Ashland has but 12 men out for basketball and only two of them are veterans. Only two of the men come from outside of Ashland county. They are Jack Saunders of Youngstown and Bob Milligan of Parma. Five of the dozen candidates are freshmen.

Findlay with a stiff 21-game schedule has only three returning lettermen, Gene Wurm, Jack Lutkins and Don Hampshire. Six freshmen form half of Coach Nelson Jones' 12-man squad. Only two of the candidates are over six feet tall.

BOSTON BRUINS TIE FOR SECOND PLACE

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Bruins moved into a second-place tie with the Chicago Black Hawks in the National hockey league Tuesday night by trouncing the Detroit Red Wings, 5-2, before 11,000 fans at Boston.

Veteran Buzz Boll starred for the Bruins by scoring twice in the first period which saw Boston register four goals. Boll's first tally came 42 seconds after the opening whistle and his second goal came at the close of the period after Art Jackson and Bill had also scored for the Bruins.

JAMES SAVED FOR BUCKEYES NEXT YEAR

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Halfback Tommy James of Massillon, who starred as a "spot runner" Ohio State university's football team this year, will play with the Buckeyes again next year, it seems.

Coach Paul Brown said last night that reports James would enter the army this week were inaccurate.

James, he explained, was authorized by his draft board to enlist so that he could enter the student reserve at Ohio State. As a member of the reserve James can continue his studies.

Majors Drop Service Tilt

All-Star Game Called Special 1942 Event.

By TOMMY DEVINE

CHICAGO—(AP)—Baseball's greatest war-time innovation, the contest which matched the winner of the major league all-star game against the outstanding players from service teams, was junked today at the annual major league convention.

American and National league officials awarded the 1943 all-star game to Philadelphia on July 7, but declined to consider matching the inter-league winner against a combination selected from the nation's army camps and naval stations.

William Harridge, president of the American league, said there would be "one and only one all-star game in 1943."

"That second all-star contest last season was something special," he said, "and could not be put on again."

The all star-servicemen's game at Cleveland's huge municipal stadium drew a crowd of 62,094 fans and receipts approximated $115,000. The American league team defeated the soldier and sailor combination 5 to 0.

The game brought back to the diamond for a brief encore such outstanding stars as Bob Feller, Mickey Harris, Johnny Rigney, Benny McCoy, Cecil Travis and Don Padgett.

With the heavy enrollment of major league players in the armed forces in recent months it was believed that the game would be a fixture for the duration, but the game now is "dead" unless the army and navy ask the majors to reconsider their decision.

The National and American leagues plan to end their separate sessions today and hold a joint meeting tomorrow.

The National league is wrestling with the problem of reorganizing the debt-ridden Philadelphia Phils.

Ford Frick, National league president, said "progress was being made" on the case.

"Establishing a satisfactory valuation on the franchise is one of the big problems," Frick said, "and I believe we'll be able to arrive at that before we leave here."

CANCEL TOURNEY

LIMA (AP)—The war and transportation problems have caused the Knights of Columbus to cancel their annual state basketball tournament, said Al Quinlan, athletics chairman.

TRI-STATE WINS

ANGOLA, Ind.—(AP)—Tri State college's cagers easily defeated Giffin of Van Wert, O., 39 to 42 here last night. The winners used their entire roster of 25 players.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—By next week there may be some definite information on what to expect in the way of intercollegiate athletics next year. . . . The eastern athletic directors meet then, and the assumption is that they expect word on army and navy plans for using college facilities before they start making their own plans . . . According to well-founded rumors, the services will take over a good many colleges, as training centers and they may have picked the schools already.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE.

Charlie Grimm will be the star of the Chicago baseball writers' dinner tonight when he puts on his imitation of the eight National league managers battling the umps. . . . The elimination tournament that is supposed to end with a lightweight champion who will suit everybody already has started a mild ruckus between the New York and Pennsylvania boxing commissions as to where tonight's Bob Montgomery-Maxie Shapiro fight at Philadelphia fits in.

The week's most significant headline, as we see it, appeared in the Boston Traveler before that Boston college-Holy Cross game: "Eagles Destined to Face Surprise Selection Jan. 1."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Roy Mumpton, Worcester (Mass.) Telegram (Saturday morning): "Holy Cross at Boston college—The fighting Crusaders have proved two years in a row now that 4-1 odds against them are ridiculous in this ancient rivalry."

KILLED IN ACTION

EVANSTON, Ill.—(INS)—The death of Lieut. (JG) Joseph Finch, captain of the Northwestern track team of 1940 who was reported killed in action "somewhere in the Pacific," was mourned on the university campus today. Lieut. Finch, a resident of St. Louis, Mo., was one of the leading hurdlers in the midwest two years ago.

WINN SAYS DERBY WILL BE RUN IN '43

NEW YORK—(INS)—"We will run the 69th annual Kentucky Derby next May 1 even if there are only a half dozen folks there to watch it," said Col. Matt J. Winn, 81-year-old dean of America's racing executives today and as if inspired with the same spirit, members of some 35 racing associations throughout the nation met today to complete plans for the continuation of the sport of kings during the coming year.

Old Col. Winn, who has seen racing survive a half dozen wars is very confident the sport will survive another year, war or no war, unless, he pointed out, the government asks that it be discontinued.

Sugar Stops Izzy Jannazzo

Ezzard Charles Scores 2nd Win Over Maxim.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Boxing's most amazing winning streak—compiled by Ray Robinson of New York—stood at 134 straight victories today, 39 of them in professional ranks.

Robinson slashed into Izzy Jannazzo of New York in whirlwind fashion last night to register a technical knockout in the eighth round of a bout that featured an all-star Christmas benefit card at the Arena.

A capacity crowd of 12,000 watched Robinson take the victory with his usual hard, straight punching that stopped Jannazzo cold. Only in two rounds—the third and fifth—did Jannazzo rally to hold his own, although he proved game to the end.

In the eighth, Robinson put Jannazzo on the floor for a nine count. Bleeding badly and groggy from solid left and right crosses in the head, Jannazzo got up and Robinson went after him for a kayo, but the referee halted the bout after 2:43 of the round.

Robinson weighed 145 to Jannazzo's 148½.

Ezzard Charles, 166, Cincinnati, won a unanimous decision over Joe Maxim, 185, Cleveland, in their 10-rounder. The bout was fast and although there were no knockdowns, Maxim was bleeding from a bad gash over the right eye in the last two rounds.

In other bouts, Maxie Berger, 143, Montreal, outpointed Bobby Robinson, 150, Cleveland, in an eight-round contest, and Joe Pirrone, 137, Cleveland, scored a technical knockout over Dick Cramer, 139, New York, in the first round.

Carbetta Kayoes Bob Crosbby Again

Paul Carbetta last night scored his second kayo victory over Bobby Crosbby of Philadelphia at Pittsburgh, knocking out his 132-pound opponent in the third round. Carbetta weighed 119.

In their previous bout Carbetta was awarded a technical kayo when Crosbby was unable to answer the bell for the fifth round.

It was Carbetta's sixth victory in seven professional fights. And it was the only knockout on last night's Pittsburgh card in which Lulu Constantino, 130, New York, decisioned Sergeant Mike Raffa, 129, Newell, W. Va., in the ten round main bout, and Tony Molisi, 147, won over Carmen Notch, 149, in the semi-final.

Beazley Intends To Pitch Again

CHICAGO—(INS)—Corp. Johnny Beazley, voted the "rookie of the year," by the Chicago chapter of the Baseball Writers of America, has no intention of giving up baseball, although he has been quoted as considering the army as a career.

* * *

Beazley, who was given the J. Louis Comiskey memorial award at the Baseball Writers annual dinner last night, made this clear when he said:

* * *

"The rumor that I was through with baseball is 'the bunk.' When this war business is all over I plan to return to baseball and I hope that all the other players who left baseball to serve in the armed forces again can play with the team they were with when they enlisted."

LEGAL NOTICE

The unknown heirs of Henry C. Hedges whose names and addresses are unknown to plaintiff will take notice that on the 18th day of Nov. 1941, the Home Materials Company filed its certain petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Richland County, Ohio, and numbered on the docket of said court as cause No. 26180 and that said unknown heirs were made parties defendant therein.

That said petition avers that certain real estate was conveyed to said plaintiff by deed recorded Richland County Deed Records, Volumes 139, Page 68, which said deed contained the following description, to-wit:

Situate in the State of Ohio, County of Richland and City of Mansfield, and known as Lot Number Twenty-two (22) Auditors Plat, being a part of the northwest quarter section twenty-two (22) township twenty-one (21), range eighteen (18), commencing at the intersection of the south line of Orange Street with the west line of Newman Street, thence west along the south line of Orange Street four hundred and thirty-three feet (433) thence south one hundred and eighty-seven feet (187 ft.) to the right of way of switch track of the Pennsylvania Ft. Wayne and Chicago R. R. running into the Eclipse Stove Works, thence east with the north line of said switch four hundred and forty feet (440) to the west line of Newman Street, thence north on the west line of Newman Street two hundred and ninety-three feet 293 ft.) to the place of beginning, containing two and fifty-seven one-hundredths acres (2 57/100).

That said real estate had been conveyed by the said Henry C. Hedges then in full life to plaintiff's immediate grantor by deed recorded Richland County Deed Records Volume 137, Page 281. That the description in the deed from the said Hedges was identical with the description herein above given.

Said petition avers that each of said descriptions are incorrect. Plaintiff among other things prays that said incorrect description may be corrected, so that the same when corrected will read as follows:

Situate in the State of Ohio, County of Richland and City of Mansfield, and known as Lot Number Twenty-two (22) Auditors Plat, being a part of the northwest quarter section twenty-two (22) township twenty-one (21) range eighteen (18), commencing at the intersection of the south line of Orange Street with the west line of Newman Street, thence west along the south line of Orange Street, four hundred and thirty-three (433) feet; thence south one hundred and eighty-seven (187) ft. to the right of way of a switch track of the Pennsylvania, Ft. Said petition further prays that plaintiff's title may be quieted in and to said real estate as described in said corrected description.

The defendants will take notice that said cause will stand for hearing on and after the 28th day of Dec. 1942. THE HOME MATERIALS COMPANY, By: Beam & Beam, its Atty.

STEADY TREND DISPLAYED BY STOCK MARKET

Installment Consumer Buying Loans Decline 8 Per Cent During October.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stocks had a steady tone in today's early dealings excepting a few specialties which dipped rather sharply under light selling.

Slightly improved at a quiet opening were Union Carbide, U. S. Steel, Anaconda, American Can, North American and Chesapeake & Ohio. Douglas and Coca Cola were off a point.

Taken by financial circles as an indication of sharply curtailed installment consumer buying was the Federal Reserve board's disclosure that loans for such purposes dropped 8 per cent in October to an estimated total of $922,000,000.

CITY EMPLOYES IN BUCYRUS ASK PAY INCREASE

Petition Council For 10 Per Cent Boost; Except City Sewage Workers.

BUCYRUS — Wholesale pay raises for all city employes with the exception of the sewage disposal plant workers, who were recently given a raise, were asked in petitions filed with city council Tuesday night by department heads.

Both Service Director Fred Judd and Safety Director Carl Jacobs asked for 10 per cent increase for all employes in their departments and, in turn, Mayor William F. Whiteamire asked for 10 per cent increase for the two directors.

All of the requests went to the finance committee for study before returning them to council for further consideration

The local civil service commission reported unfavorably on council's proposal to place employes of the water works under civil service. Request had been made by the employes some time ago.

Council left to Mayor Whiteamire a request by the Bucyrus Ministerial association that all taverns in the city be closed at midnight hereafter. It was the opinion of council that the tavern owners would agree to a closing hour if properly approached.

Resolution was adopted to advertise for bids for a rebuilt power grader for the service department to replace a wornout grader now in service.

The traffic commission asked council for legislation giving it the right to revamp the city's traffic laws governing through streets. Council recently has been studying the advisability of adding new through thoroughfares.

Attention of the public was called by council to a city law requiring that citizens clean snow from their sidewalks, this following the week-end snow which brought reports of uncleaned walks.

Ashland Mayor Sets Aside Period For Drive.

ASHLAND — By proclamation Mayor Glenn B Haller has declared the period between Dec. 1 and 7 dedicated to the program of enrolling all Ashland workers in the war savings payroll plan, the goal set by the war savings staff of Ohio.

Stanley G Hiner, chairman of the war savings bond and stamp committee, assisted by members of the committee and a committee from the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will conduct the drive to convert more than 10 per cent of the city's gross payroll into war bonds every pay day. The campaign is in keeping with the war savings staff's slogan, "Top That 10 Per Cent by Pearl Harbor Day."

wait for an American attack but chose the right time for starting it. . . .

"Where are the American prophets who predicted that Japan would be liquidated in two or three weeks?"

Mussolini said that Italian casualties in RAF bombings and British bombardments of Italy from the sea were 1,876 killed and 3,332 injured.

In the first 30 months of the war he said the Italian navy lost 172 ships, totaling 227,000 tons.

The total Italian dead for the same period, were given as: army, navy and air force, 94,182

Il duce said 232,700 Italians were prisoners of the enemy, of which 215,000 were from the Italian army.

Noting that Churchill called him a hyena, Mussolini said he considered himself "a thousand times more a gentleman than Churchill, intoxicated with alcohol and tobacco."

"England's history of the last 300 years is one of a long list of acts worthy of hyenas," he added.

"Churchill says my empire is gone, but the last word has not been spoken."

The premier complained that nobody every really understood Italy" and "every time we asked for something we found obstacles in our path."

"If I had listened to that hyena Roosevelt, he would have thought me a 'chump'," he said.

Duce's Irked Because Of American Stand

LONDON —(U.P.)— Benito Mussolini is still piqued by the American decision not to regard Italian nationals in the United States as enemy aliens.

In his speech today he charged that the United States was "discriminating" between Italians and other "Europeans" and also between various kinds of Italians.

"Why," said Mussolini, "if I were to land on Long Island I would be quarantined."

Report Italians Start Sabotage Campaign

LONDON—(INS)— The campaign of civil disobedience urged on the Italian people in a manifesto of the underground Socialist party has begun, to the accompaniment of widespread sabotage, an exchange Telegraph company dispatch from Zurich reported today.

Copies of the manifesto, whose existence was reported only a few days ago, have been distributed in 40 provinces, said the dispatch, adding that Genoa police had confirmed reports that there has been widespread sabotage throughout the oft-bombed port.

The Italian liner Celio was set on fire in the harbor, and an ammunition train was blown up in the railroad yards, according to the Zurich Dispatch. Reports from Milan said the word "disobedience" had appeared on walls throughout the city which was one of the chief targets of recent RAF raids.

Officials in several provinces were said to have reported extensive sabotage centering on disrupting telephone services.

In addition to its effort to cope with distribution of the Socialist party manifesto, the government had to contend today with a similar problem of leaflets reproducing the text of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's Sunday address.

Churchill urged the Italian people to oust the Fascist leadership or suffer shattering aerial assaults

GIRL SCOUTS CLIMAX VICTORY FUND DRIVE AT FRIDAY MEETING

Mansfield Girl Scouts will climax their Victory Fund drive with a rally in Park Avenue Baptist church Friday at 7:15 p. m. when the total of war savings stamps purchased by each troop during the past month will be placed upon a score board and the ways and means the Scouts used to earn the money for purchase will be described.

The drive, part of a national Girl Scout campaign for $70,000 to be used in rehabilitating child victims of the war, was launched the last of October and ended Thanksgiving day. Each Scout was requested to buy as many 10-cent war savings stamps as she was able to earn and the goal set for the entire organization was $45.

Representatives from each of the 23 troops will give a report Friday night and the outcome of the national drive will be broadcast on Dec. 7, anniversary of Pearl Harbor.

Moving pictures and slides of local Scout activities, a color film entitled "Good Neighbors," supplied by the national organization and showing the western hemisphere encampment in South America counties will feature the program along with songs by several Girl Scout troops.

Mrs. Louis Lamoreux and Mrs. P. B. Dietrichson are in charge of the rally. Miss Katharine Hartman will furnish the commentary for the slides while Mrs. John Ru-Ross operates the projector. Mrs. W. P. Lytle, chairman of the public relations committee, is another leader active in program arrangements.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1942.

We used to think of victory in terms of military effort alone. We are now beginning to understand that in addition to the military effort there must be a mighty civilian effort as well, else there can be no permanent solution.—Dr. Cuyler Speers.

"Everybody else is getting a B book, so why shouldn't I?" is the most recent version of a conscience-lulling explanation.

Safety note: Use stored gasoline first—explosion of gasoline stored in your home or garage would be hard to explain to the insurance company.

Buy Bonds On 'Pearl Harbor Day'

ALMOST a year now since that fateful Sunday afternoon when Japan dropped the mask of a smirking smile to rain death and destruction upon Pearl Harbor, and to initiate undeclared warfare against the Philippines and American, British and Dutch possessions in the Far East.

Unprepared for such vicious and widespread attacks as the underestimated Japanese military machine was able to make with startling speed, the first weeks and months of war saw the forces of Nippon moving from one victory to another—even to the extent of seriously threatening the west coast of our own country.

Since then there has been a slow turning in the tide of war, and land, sea and air forces of the United States are being rapidly strengthened, so as to be able to cope on more equal terms with the strong and fanatic Asiatic member of Hitler's Axis powers.

Day after day more men are being added to the nation's armed forces—all of whom are leaving civilian pursuits to undergo rigorous training and face the hardships of war.

But there are some others—millions in fact—who cannot go to war as fighters.

Their task, however, is no less vital to victory—for food, supplies and military equipment must flow in an endless stream to camps, bases and farflung battlefronts.

There is also the need for money—billions of dollars to pay the costs of war. This money must come as dimes, quarters and dollars from the people of the United States—from each to the extent of his or her ability to invest in War Savings Stamps and Bonds—securities that are as strong as the United States of America.

"Pearl Harbor day," next Monday, December 7, will not be "celebrated," in the ordinary sense of that word—but it will be solemnly observed as the first anniversary of as dastardly an act as is recorded in history, and one which will eventually spell the doom of Japan's age-old ambition to seize complete control in the Far East and throughout the vast stretches of the Pacific into the Western Hemisphere.

"Pearl Harbor day"—next Monday—will also be bond-buying day in Mansfield. Starting at 1 o'clock, after being closed for 35 minutes, Mansfield banks will devote the afternoon exclusively to sale of War Bonds, which will also be sold at a number of other places in the city.

Remember how you felt last December 7 when the word passed around, "The Japs have attacked Pearl Harbor!" Resolve now that nothing will keep you from buying a War Bond next Monday. The bond YOU buy may be the VERY ONE that will give the United Nations the edge needed to win the war!

Boston Tragedy Awakens Nation

QUITE NATURALLY, as was the case after the disastrous Iroquois theater fire in Chicago in 1903, in which more than 600 lives were lost, the Boston night club tragedy of last Saturday night, started instant action all over the country to check up on conditions in similar liquor-dispensing places, and to, if deemed advisable, strengthen safety precautions in buildings used for such purposes.

The Iroquois fire brought about radical changes in theater construction requirements, including fire resistant materials, sufficient exits, and the like, but many of these safeguards were overlooked as the night club era came along, and any sort of flimsy construction of ornate appearance has apparently met "code" requirements, as in the case of the Boston "tinder box," which an "inspector" approved a week before the fire but which had been condemned as a fire-trap as much as three years ago.

Now, in a wave of public condemnation, all Boston night clubs, taverns and similar entertainment resorts have been ordered closed, pending the outcome of the investigations in progress.

As may have been the case with the ill-fated Cocoanut Grove night club, which was founded by a notorious Boston gangster who was later assassinated by a rival racketeer, operators of such places are frequently more concerned with profits than with public welfare, and it is only by such tragic occurrences that public conscience is temporarily awakened to the potential danger of packing a large crowd into a building in which a flash fire could kill hundreds of people within a few minutes.

While the great toll of the Boston fire makes it especially horrifying, there is no justification in needlessly endangering even ONE LIFE by tolerating night club or tavern conditions that should not be permitted to exist. If more stringent laws are needed in Ohio they should be passed as quickly as possible.

Impartial Enforcement Promised

THERE is no reason, of course, why Chief of Police Bell shouldn't develop and carry through his own plan in dealing with bingo outfits and other sorts of commercialized gambling in Mansfield. In fact that's one of the duties of his office.

But the police department attitude has leaned so strongly toward conforming to an administration attitude on law enforcement, and the present administration has been so lenient in that regard, that Chief Bell's clearcut statement of his position in the matter of impartiality in handling the gambling situation, serves to at least partially clarify what has seemed to be rather surreptitious proceedings "upstairs."

"There may be efforts to dislodge me," Chief Bell rather cryptically remarked, "but so long as I'm in the saddle I'll do my own riding."

And if this means that efforts to "dislodge" him may result from his attempt to enforce laws impartially, the public should be sufficiently interested to make sure that the efforts do not succeed.

Now that the football season is over, colleges are presumably in readiness to resume their scholastic work.

Advances Mean More Sacrifices

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Actually, the news about the war since the landing of the big expeditionary force in North Africa is bad news for the stay at homes, especially those living in the east. If they had the choice, of course, they would be delighted to take the necessary bitter that goes along with the sweet, but they should have the sugar coating for the pill. In this case the coating is so much more important than what it covers!

No one doubts that the North African offensive has shortened the weary years of the war that were in prospect before that important happening. So the long range picture is much more optimistic. But the short range picture is that those American soldiers must be supplied, and must be supplied from the eastern coast of the United States.

This has been one of the factors that has suddenly made the fuel oil and gasoline situation so much more acute in the eastern states. It is entirely possible that even if there were unlimited pipe lines to bring the oil to the east, and if there were no rubber situation, there would still be the necessity for rationing of oil and gasoline in the east because of this new demand.

BY THE same token the invasion of North Africa has put a severe strain on our food supplies. Not that our soldiers eat more in North Africa than if they were in camps in this country, or in Britain, but as we move in we have to undertake the feeding of a great many additional mouths. We cannot permit starvation in territory which we are occupying.

No one is criticising this, or at least very few. It is not understood, however, half so well as the whole policy, or international politics, or whatever one wants to call it, which has governed the occupation of North Africa. Yet many critics, including at least one noted woman columnist, has been lashing the Washington administration on that.

More and more food and supplies, especially gasoline for our army planes, tanks, trucks, jeeps and whatnots must be poured across the ocean to keep our invasion force supplied. It is not a question of whether it is advisable to do this, even if it makes the east chilly and cuts down the number of miles one can drive his automobile. There is no choice about it.

STRANGELY enough, though the reasons for the acuteness of the shortage have been clear enough, they have not been explained sufficiently to our people. Yet there has been little grumbling. People figure that if sacrifice at home is necessary to win the war, they will make the sacrifices.

There is nothing like the howling about this, for example, that there is about the manpower situation. Senator Harry Flood Byrd, of Virginia, is getting enthusiastic support for his contention that one third of all government employes not directly connected with the war effort should be dismissed.

The public seems to feel that giving up oil and gasoline is one thing, but seeing more boys than necessary drafted because too many young men are dodging the draft by working for the government in some utterly non-essential—for the period of the emergency at any rate — activity, is something else again.

Man About Manhattan

Free-Will Offering

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There isn't much you can say in behalf of this war, but certainly it has brought about a new estimate of people in show business. Theater, night club, radio and movie folk have knocked themselves out to give service men a few happy memories. They have performed in barracks and barns, armories and on board ship, and if they have any complaints over bad acoustics or weak accompaniment, very little is said aloud.

They should give their services without complaint, you say. So do I. So do the entertainers. One cutie-pie who warbles in a night club was invited to sing at a soldiers' party. She didn't want to, whined about her throat being bad. "Listen," said her manager, "you haul your carcass down there and like it. If we don't give benefits, there won't be any places to give benefits when the shooting's over."

To the credit of the profession, that attitude is most uncommon. The majority turn out for benefits with scarcely a question as to who is giving the party and why. "Nothing's too good for soldiers," they say. "What time do you want me to come out?"

I DOUBT if the entertainers are giving anything away. The expressions on the tired faces before them, responsive and eager to laugh at anything approaching humor, are high wages. The cash rewards can come later, if at all. Certainly some entertainers are becoming tremendously popular, and they won't be forgotten any more than Elsie Janis was forgotten. They are popular because they have become real people to many who knew them only as names; they have been seen and heard — and sometimes kissed! — and have become real.

How real? Well, I saw a soldier come up to Vicki Vickee, the radio songstress, and become inarticulate. "Wow!" he yelled, which is understandable because Vicki, a lucious black-haired girl, should be seen as well as heard. And another, upon meeting Elissa Landi, said: "All my life, I've wanted to kiss a movie star." Said Elissa, laughing, "Go ahead."

It is almost typical that in order to make her appearance, Elissa had broken away from a birthday party for her father, who was 66 that day. Her father, an Allied naval officer in that other war, wasn't unhappy about it. He went along and had a swell time.

* * *

THAT Monday night canteen at the George Washington hotel, for men of the merchant marine, is proving immensely popular among those hardy customers who transport oil and food and munitions on the high seas. Moving spirits are Spivy, who deserts her own club that night, and Fred White, a press agent who sometimes is amazed by his own magnanimous feelings. The mariners need only to show identification papers to gain entry. If they have lost their papers in a torpedoing, the Coast Guard will issue them a pass.

Health And Diet

Health Questions Are Answered.

—By DR. CLENDENING

Mrs. J. J. L.:—Will lemon juice and baking soda taken before breakfast help rheumatism, and is it constipating?

Answer: Alkalis which include lemon juice and baking soda have always had a reputation for helping rheumatism, but not with any very good scientific foundation. At least, they do no harm and are not constipating.

E. B.:—What symptoms would manifest themselves in a person taking vitamin B regularly if the system is getting too much?

Answer: Nutrition experts do not believe vitamin B ever causes toxic symptoms, no matter how much is taken. There have been cases reported, however, of sensitiveness to thiamine chloride (which is vitamin B) causing skin eruptions and other allergic manifestations.

W. D. M.: Is there any known cure for fingers which become white and numb when exposed, even for very short periods, to moderately cold temperatures?

Answer: This condition is a form of Raynaud's disease and is very commonly met with. There is no effective cure for it and the best management we have is the recognition of the nature and cause of the condition and a warning for the individual not to expose extremities to the cold.

Interpreting the War News

Allied Victory In Africa Nearing But Bitter Axis Defense Expected

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

THE ALLIED ARMIES have started closing in for the kill on the Axis forces on the southern shores of the Mediterranean and the close of the African chapter of the war appears not far off.

The next chapter will be written in southern Europe.

Victory in Africa is in sight, but not an easy victory. Having failed to establish clear air superiority, the enemy was outnumbered on land and squeezed between the advancing First and Eighth British armies from west and east.

However, the Axis remains strong. The suggestion from neutral sources in London that the enemy may cease resistance does not make sense. The Germans and Italians are capable of a delaying action which is likely to postpone the decision.

The First army, which has sliced between Tunis and Bizerte and is closing a ring around both strongholds, faces stiff resistance. The enemy holds strong fortified positions and appears to be well-equipped with artillery, particularly the deadly 88-millimeter anti-tank guns. His aviation, while not dominant, is doing considerable damage to the advancing Allied columns.

The Eighth army, moving against the remnants of Rommel's Afrika Korps at El Agheila in Libya, has its problems too. As outlined in an authoritative British war commentary, the situation is as follows:

Having smashed the Afrika Korps, Gen. Montgomery's problem has not become simply a matter of the English tank men stepping on the gas and tearing off over the desert after the retreating enemy. The problems of the chase increase with each mile of advance; conversely, the problems of the quarry decrease.

The beaten army does not have the great difficulties of bringing up supplies of food, water, fuel and ammunition. It has dumps of them waiting at various points on the way home.

As it retreats, the losses of men and vehicles on the way reduce its needs, and the constantly shortening line of communications makes the problem of meeting those needs easier. Rommel thus can stay in action without making a determined stand until he reaches his last base.

The British problems are more complex. When an armored division is advancing in ordinary line of march, it uses up 75,000 gallons of gasoline in the first hundred miles. To carry that amount, 50 trucks are needed.

With each additional 100 miles, 50 more trucks have to be added because the trucks themselves use up gasoline. The advancing army cannot abandon vehicles without giving up the chase altogether.

Then there is the problem of ammunition. It always depends on the extent of enemy resistance. That is always an unknown quantity until the enemy makes a stand, so the advancing army must be prepared for even unlikely eventualities.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

(Second of two articles on enemy propaganda in the U. S.)

WASHINGTON — Among those persons whose business it is to examine and worry over enemy propaganda that floats into the United States, one of the chief concerns lately is with the "let's-relax-it's-all-over" school of talk.

This is hardly a thought that the Axis could foster openly while still making dire threats about what they are going to do to our troops. Yet it is Axis propaganda.

The reasoning in this school is: We'll take Africa, knock Italy out of the war in a few weeks, open a second front in the south, maybe another in the west, and it will all be over.

THAT doesn't take much time in telling, but Army and Navy strategists shoot it as full of holes as the box kite caught in ack-ack. In the first place the Battle of Africa isn't over yet and after that will have to come the Battle of the Mediterranean. Give a thought to how long tough little Malta has held out in this war. Give another to the fact that Hitler, with all his might, didn't dare cross the narrow Channel to invade an England that had almost no army and no air power after Dunkerque.

Remember also that bombing alone has never won a battle and that Genoa, Turin, even Rome could be reduced to rubble without our gaining a foot of ground in Italy.

As for Italy making a separate peace, that's pretty well scouted. There's no government in sight in Italy with which a peace could be made. Before there is, there must be a revolution that will not only have to deal with the Fascists but with the hordes of Nazis now overrunning that land.

Opening of a Western Front will be a task that will take time and planning and a vast concentration of ships and men. Even when all those hurdles are cleared, there still is Japan in the Pacific—a matter which can't be ignored unless we want to expose our own mainland to attack.

THE Axis in Europe has several ways to meet the present threat.

The best guess now, however, is that it probably will dig in for a long war of attrition and in the end a negotiated peace that will leave the Nazis in power. Our job will be to see that even that strategy fails, but it might take more than "lightning war" which is already three years old.

'Nobody's Children'

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU'RE thinking perhaps—who isn't—of a boy who's somewhere in Libya, Ireland, England, the Aleutians or on Guadalcanal. A boy without an address.

But have you thought about the little tads who had no address right here in America? The youngsters who march in lines, sleep and eat and play by the tick of the clock.

We claim that we hate regimentation, we Yanks. We're fighting against it; fighting for each individual's right to his own rhythm and self-expression. And yet we deny that right to thousands of youngsters whose only crime is that they are orphans—wards of the state.

The little tads who have no address. It's doubtful if you who have happy homes have ever given them a thought. Or, if you did, you thought it sufficient that they were fed and housed by taxpayer money.

BUT CAN TAXPAYER MONEY SATISFY THE HUNGER FOR LOVE IN THE HEART OF A CHILD? CAN IT GIVE HIM THAT CHANCE TO EXPRESS HIMSELF UPON WHICH SELF-RESPECT MUST BE BASED? CAN IT BUY HIM THE DREAMS AND ADVENTURES AND SWEET FOOLISHNESS OF WHICH HAPPY CHILDHOOD IS MADE?

Rose Kuszmaul says it can't. And she should know, for she worked two years in a State Orphans' Home in Kansas. Now she and her brother run a wheat and stock farm. All day she feels the flood of lusty, healthy life—feeding calves, raising chickens, cooking, canning, keeping house. Reading when she has time. But never has she forgotten the tragic regimentation and frustration of those years in the state orphanage. And out of those years she has written one of the most deeply moving stories of the day—"Nobody's Children," recently released by Houghton Mifflin company.

Here is the story of all the little children you and I forget. It isn't a cruel or sensational story, though it might well be if it had penetrated the darker corners of our land. But Rose Kuszmaul's youngsters were well fed. They had decent clothes. They were bathed and exercised by rule and rote. Yet herein lay their pitiful tragedy.

Rose Kuszmaul's children lived in a home. But they had no home. They had no privacy, no personal possessions. They had no more personality than branded cattle. If, by some quirk of Fate, they were beautiful, brilliant or charming, someone might come some day and adopt them. Otherwise they spent their childhood in corrals, knowing nothing of the gay freedom "regular children" know.

Here is a book which is written quietly, with restraint and with an uncanny knowledge of child psychology. No one within my knowledge has so accurately translated the thoughts and words of children, or their passionate silences. I have read many a more exciting document, but never a more tragic one. Nor one more needed by every American.

We're swallowing tears these days for the boys who have gone abroad. Let's give a few of the tears to the little tykes who stay at home—in a Home that has no meaning.

We are not cruel, we Americans. We are flamboyantly generous. We are easily aroused to heights of pity and compassion. But we forget as easily. We do not remember, in our warm beds, the little homeless fellow who sobs beneath his rough gray blankets, who walks in a file like any criminal. Let us remember!

Suppose, by some cruel accident, that little lonely boy were yours.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By the doctrine expounded by President James Monroe in his annual message to Congress on this date in 1823, the American continents were closed to colonization by European powers and any attempt to extend their political systems over territory in this hemisphere was to be construed as an unfriendly act against the United States.

A Farmer's Diary

Thank You, Friends

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

"NOTICED your article in regard to rabbits eating your fruit tree trunks," writes the manager of a fur company. "I will put you next to the simplest remedy for this destruction, and I have had experience with it.

"Go to your local fur dealer, or come here to my fur house a day or two after the season opens and get as many pounds of scrapings from the furs of animals as you think it will take to grease all your trunks up as far as a rabbit will reach. (They will reach farther than you think.)

"They will not touch the trees when greased with this animal fat—no matter how many rabbits or how cold and snowy the season."

WITHIN an hour after hunting season opened, hunters from town were here. They scattered along the slope and from time to time we heard the crack of a shot. Just as they were returning to their car, parked on our barn bridge, a rabbit flopped out of the ditch and ran along the road edge. One hunter raised his gun and brought it down. Then, calling the little boys, who were playing in the barn, the men took off the head, removed the entrails and presented the rabbit. "Cook it for supper," one suggested.

We ate the bunny next day, roasted nice and brown with sweet potatoes and gravy, sweet pickles and slaw. "It tastes pretty good—maybe because it fattened on our plum trees," remarked one hungry boy.

"Maybe because it was killed so kindly," suggested another.

HERE'S a letter from a Pennsylvanian who wants to know how to prepare hams and smoke them in a barrel, as his father used to do. Can any reader answer that one?

* * *

"Only for these I pray,
Pray with assurance strong;
Light to discover the way,
Power to follow it long . . .
My prayers are less than three,
Nothing I pray but two;
Let me have light to see,
Let me have power to do."

—Gilman.

NAZI TROOPS BACKING OUT OF STALINGRAD

Allies Sever Axis' Escape Corridor to Tripoli In Tunisian Advance.

German Junkers.

Fresh Red army gains were reported on both the Stalingrad and Moscow fronts. More than 6,000 Germans were listed as killed in the day's fighting.

Soviet troops battling their way down the east bank of the Don, in a vast wheeling operation to squeeze the Germans back against the bayonets of the Stalingrad garrison, were reported to have reached strong Nazi defenses.

In North Africa, Axis armies caught in a gigantic Allied "vise" pressing from east and west were strictly on the defensive.

On the eastern flank, Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's British 8th army opened up its big guns in a preliminary assault on the Germans entrenched in the El Agheila defile, a narrow corridor at the base of the Gulf of Sirte, and dispatches from Cairo indicated that the west-bound offensive was about to start anew.

On the western flank, a broadcast from American-occupied Morocco said Lieut.-Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson's British 1st army, strongly supported by American mobile forces, was now in contact with "the nucleus of enemy resistance" in the Bizerte-Tunis zone.

Approximately 20,000 Axis combat troops, as well as thousands of specialists and helpers, were solidly entrenched behind minefields in the northern coastal region of Tunisia where the warriors of Scipio Africanus battled the Carthaginians many centuries ago.

Powerful AEF Reaches New Zealand

AUCKLAND, New Zealand—(U.P.)—A powerful and magnificently equipped American expeditionary force has arrived in New Zealand, it was revealed today.

Crowds gathered in the harbor area to cheer when the dark gray warships of the United States convoy escorted the sea-stained, deep-laden transports into port, their decks crowded with troops and their holds heavy with supplies and equipment.

For hours next day the troop ships disgorged their men, and for days afterward materials poured ashore from their holds.

The expedition was organized and embarked with the utmost secrecy and its men did not know until they left the American coast what country they were bound for.

Cigarets, oranges and American coins showered down on New Zealand soldiers as the ships reached dock, and the New Zealanders threw back coins of their own.

Japs Try To Send Help To Buna Area

MELBOURNE — (AP) — The Japanese were attempting to reinforce their hard-pressed troops in the Buna-Gona area of New Guinea today as the Allied grip slowly closed on the enemy positions and latest reports received here said four Japanese destroyers were still heading for the island despite an attack by Allied bombers in which direct hits and near misses were scored.

Today's communique from Allied headquarters said only that "an enemy naval force of four destroyers is apparently attempting to land reinforcements."

The communique reported that ground forces were slowly narrowing the area held by the Japanese along the coast of northeastern New Guinea and said Allied air units were operating in direct support of the ground units. One enemy dive bomber and two fighters, which attempted to attack Allied positions, were shot down, the communique said.

Japs Claim Mop-Up In Philippines

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts) —(AP)— Imperial Japanese headquarters announced today "the virtual termination of mopping-up operations in the Philippines" against American and Filipino remnants holding out in mountainous or other inaccessible parts of the Islands.

In operations from August until October, it was stated, Imperial forces achieved these "outstanding war results:" 3,940 enemy bodies abandoned, 2,000 enemy troops taken prisoners, seizure of 33 rapid-fire guns, 71 heavy and light machineguns, 105 automatic rifles, 1,458 other firearms, 1,000,000 rounds of ammunition and 44 motorcars.

FACES DEATH

Negro Found Guilty of Two Slayings at Columbus.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Henry Locke, 43, Negro, has been found guilty by a three-judge court of first degree murder, without a recommendation of mercy, and later will be sentenced to death in the electric chair.

He was convicted of slaying Mrs. Ophelia Sadler, 39, and Mrs. Addie Wynn, 38, both Negroes.

GETS LIFE FOR SLAYING

ELYRIA — (AP) — Mrs. Minnie Mae Glass, 42, was sentenced to life imprisonmnet in the Marysville reformatory after a three-judge court convicted her of second-degree murder in the slaying of her husband of six months, Charles, 41. She testified she shot him while he slept after he had threatened her with a pistol.

"Proceeds of games," May declared, "are for the benefit of the club as a whole. We sent $175 to Chicago headquarters within the last 30 days."

May denied that a post-card invitation constitutes membership rights to attend Townsend club bingo parties but declined to state how many members belonged here, saying "a lot of politicians would like to know our strength."

About 200 attended last Saturday night's party, May said, but that generally attendance at bi-monthly meetings is from 300 to 1,000.

Police Chief Thomas M. Bell announced yesterday that police will be instructed to arrest operators of bingo games, leaving it up to the courts to decide whether or not the pay is by a regularly constituted club and for members only.

ters, the Ohio Fuel Gas company and the postoffice.

Three of the city's larger industrial plants were included in today's list of 25 concerns reaching the 10 per cent circle. They were Tappan Stove, Dominion Electrical and Manufacturing company and North American Knitting Mills.

Twenty-two other firms, some industrial and some in retail business were also listed. They were: Kobacker's, Constance Market, All State Freight, Inc., Builders Supply company, Saltzgaber Distributing company, Summit Fast Freight, Inc., Mets Auto Supply company, Dixie Ohio Express company, Richland Auto Parts company, Star Rubber Company, Wagner Hardware company, Sherwin-Williams company, Richland County Automobile club, Sam Fox, Inc., Mansfield Asphalt Paving company, Harry Wineland and company, Holibaugh and Wolfe, Inc., Akron-Chicago Transfer company, Charles L. Wappner and Brothers, T. R. Sammons Outdoor Advertising Company, Crowe's Shoes, and the Vogue shop.

The December bond sales committee, headed by James Eberly of the Junior Association of Commerce and Roger Bolin, Westinghouse executive, as co-chairmen, were jubilant today over the early success of the payroll deduction phase of the campaign, and predicted similar success in the Dec. 7 "Remember Pearl Harbor—Buy Bonds" drive Monday.

Pledge boxes will be placed in places where bonds are sold, as well as in many stores and other business places. Purchasers of war bonds on Pearl Harbor Day are asked to fill out the pledges and deposit them. From them, a list of bond purchasers will be compiled and printed in the Dec. 13 edition of The News-Journal, which will be sent to all Mansfield men in the armed services. Those buying bonds under the payroll deduction plan will also fill out pledges and their names will be printed.

Stores installing pledge boxes of their own accord are asked to notify the Retail Merchants association, the Junior Association of Commerce or War Bond headquarters, Farmers Bank building, so that the pledges can be collected in time for tabulation.

KNOX CALLS WAR OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Declares Japs Losing 5-to-1 as U. S. Navy Attains Greatest Strength.

effort America had displayed "timidity, hesitancy, inefficiency, confusion, waste and all the other things the critics say," Knox declared that in contrast:

"We have converted the greatest peacetime industrial plant into the greatest arsenal of all time.

"We have maintained our freedoms and our solvency at home.

"We have an army in the South Pacific; an army in Britain and an army in Africa and we equipped them.

"We have a navy on all the seas and it has no apologies for its performance to date.

"We have mounted offensives in two hemispheres.

"And the first anniversary of the war is still to come," he added. "Yes, I think as long as we do not overlook our failures there is nothing very immoral about taking a little comfort from our successes. I have said it before and I will again risk the assertion that, in view of the complexities and the enormity of the task, to date this has been America's best run war."

On the debit side, the secretary of navy cited the nation's 50,000 men killed and missing since Pearl Harbor, the "staggering total" of $46,000,000,000 spent on munitions and war construction this year, and predicted that the bill for 1943 would be more than $70,000,000,000.

"And we might as well face the hard fact right now," he said, "that we have a tough period directly ahead of us in the Atlantic."

EATON —(INS)— Fifteen-year-old Daniel Hall confessed that he killed his father, Daniel Thomas Hall, 56, by shooting through windows of their farm home near Eaton Thanksgiving night, Sheriff Malcolm Clear revealed today.

The youth complained, the sheriff said, that his father had beaten him "as far back as I can remember." Daniel was returned to Eaton from Toledo where he was subjected to a lie detector test.

Deputies took the youth into custody the day after the shooting when he registered at an Eaton hotel.

from the scene of today's disaster.

The Cleveco reported the sinking to the coast guard, relaying information that the "Admiral" disappeared. The tow line remained intact.

A spokesman for the Lorain County Telephone company said a freighter, believed to be the Crudeoil, had offered assistance to the barge, which has no steering gear.

The barge reported it apparently was not in immediate danger but could use some oil to spread on the water, the spokesman said. He added that the barge's crew was believed to number about three or four.

The coast guard also sent out the cutter Ossipee from Cleveland and the cutter Crocus from Sandusky, and requested the civil air patrol to scout the area.

The tugs, dispatched by the Great Lakes Towing company, were the California, from Cleveland, and the Pennsylvania, from Lorain.

SOUTH CAROLINA HIT

COLUMBIA, S. C. —(INS)— One child was known dead, several other persons were believed to have been killed and a number injured today in the wake of a heavy wind storm which struck central South Carolina last night, inflicting severe property damage. The storm uprooted trees, lifted roofs from many houses and ripped out storefronts.

PROVIDENCE, R. I. — (U.P.) — Scores of families were evacuated by police and firemen at Warwick, R. I., early today when a 60-mile gale caused the highest tide since the disastrous hurricane of 1938. BUS CONGESTION GROWS IN CITY ters, in the Mohican building over the Woolworth store, was kept busy issuing coupons for gasoline for trucks and in some cases, where "warrants of necessity" had been applied for but not received, temporary certificates were also issued. Gasoline dealers have this week in which to file their reports with the panel.

Errors will not be corrected or any adjustments made this week, W. J. Spreng, chairman of the gasoline panel, emphasized. "We have all we can do now taking care of truck operators and dealers," he elaborated, "and must postpone adjustment cases at least until next week."

Occasioned by the colder weather, two city buses, used as extras during the morning rush period, were out of service this morning adding further to transportation difficulties. One is already back in operation, Van Tilburg said, while the other will be repaired and ready for use within a day or so.

Since city bus drivers work until midnight and have until 5 p. m. the following day to file their records of the number of passengers carried, no figures of yesterday's bus riders were available today.

CHAPTER XXXI

"Tell me what to do," Livia implored. "I'm afraid."

"Me, too," grinned Bruce.

"Why don't we let Smithy handle it in his own inimitable fashion?" Livia suggested.

"I'll call him out." Bruce opened the door and watched while Smithy applied a wide red curve to Alice's thin lips. "You're wanted outside," he said casually to Smithy.

"I'm busy," said the make-up man, who leaned lower over the star. "Please open your mouth a little," he supplicated

"It's the boss," Bruce said casually. Smithy straightened up.

"Excuse me, please," he said to Alice and followed Bruce to where Livia was waiting in the next make-up booth.

He looked for Mr. Dunne.

"Where—?" he began.

"He's not here." Bruce grinned.

"Then I must go back—" Bruce barred his way to the door.

"You'll be fired," Bruce said pleasantly.

"What? How?"

"For attending to Miss Delaware when you should be working on this young lady"

"But she's out of the picture—"

"I'm back now, Smithy," Livia said.

"But Miss Delaware—"

"A little make-up won't hurt her," Bruce said. "Get rid of her."

Charles Fordyce spent two hours convincing Alice that a terrible mistake had been made, that she had been hired for the second feminine role and not for "Honoria Lewis" Then she tore her clothes, disregarding the grips, cameraman, electricians, and members of the cast, and had a super attack of hysterics.

"My husband will ruin the whole bunch of you," she said, then picked herself up unaided from the floor and rushed from the set.

"I guess we'll all have lunch now," said Fordyce, mopping his forehead and sighing deeply. "Young lady," he said to Livia, "if you let me down now, my hysterics will be worse than Alice's."

"Thanks, Charles," she said softly.

"Back at 12, everyone," shouted the assistant director.

Earl Dixon did not die. But for weeks his life hung by the merest thread. When he was a little better, Livia visited him. She stayed only a few minutes and very little was said. But just before she left, Dixon said:

"How's the picture?"

"Only another week to go," she told him.

"I hear you are doing fine," he said.

"Who told you?" she asked eagerly

"Never mind," he said with a faint smile and then painfully, "No one must know about us." His face flushed, and Livia was alarmed He looked weak.

"We'll see about that later," she said softly, "don't worry now."

The barrage of publicity preceding the premiere of "Honoria Lewis" was the greatest ever known in Hollywood. Newspaper columnists and editors from all over the country were coming by plane and train. A select audience of stars had been hand-picked for the event.

Livia's face was reproduced on twelve by twenty-five foot billboards all over town She gave out so many interviews that her throat and mind were exhausted with the topic of herself. She would have included Earl Dixon's name in her story. But Bruce cautioned her to wait. If and when she was a success, she could be and say anything she liked, and the public would take it.

"Besides," said Bruce shrewdly, "the publicity at this time would excite him and perhaps retard his recovery."

As in a dream Livia counted off the last days to the premiere. Now it had arrived And the world would judge her a failure or success

At first Judge Nolan, Bruce's father refused point blank to attend the premiere But Elizabeth, who had never ceased working for a reconciliation between her father and brother, finally said

"All right, I'll go alone"

"What? And have you fall in love with another of those dang actors?" he said harshly

Livia invited them to stay with her. But the Judge preferred a hotel.

"Where," he said, "I can form my own opinion on this jungle of yours." But Elizabeth stayed with Livia.

There was to be a big party at Ciro's after the premiere Magnificent Pictures had taken over the restaurant for the night. They had also taken over Livia No objection was raised when Livia included Elizabeth and Judge Nolan in the group with which she would see the picture. But publicity boss Samuels objected to Bruce.

"You can do what you like afterward But tonight we must have you with a big-name star from the studio"

Bruce grinned and said, "Do as they say, Livia"

* * *

The meeting between the judge and his son was easier than either of them had expected. It was now more than four years since they had quarreled. Bruce and Livia called on the judge at his hotel and remained with him two hours.

"Father and I will never again disagree about anything — until the next time," Bruce told Livia.

Now back to the house with Elizabeth . . . An army of hairdressers and wardrobe girls from the studio surrounded Livia, waiting to dress her up for the premiere

"But we have an hour and a half," Livia protested when Smithy, fidgeting nervously, suggested they should start. Her hair had been washed and was covered with a mesh net showing glints of red-gold.

"Excited, darling?" Elizabeth asked.

"It's a dream," Livia said "Why is it that when something important is happening, you can't grasp it? You can look forward and look back."

"I know," Elizabeth said softly, "Remember how I felt when Terry Davidson—I'm over it now and can't believe he ever existed for me Is he still in Hollywood?"

"We haven't heard anything about him since that awful time with Al Jonas. Bruce tried to find him But he must have left the country."

Elizabeth was now engaged to the son of a wealthy neighbor rancher in Colorado.

Mrs. Sayles tried to get the two girls to eat something. But neither could do more than nibble at the sandwiches she prepared.

It was time now for Livia to put on the dress of white stiff brocade silvered with gleaming thread The strapless bodice framed the whiteness of her shoulders The gown hugged her figure to the waist, then flowed to the ground in a starched swirl.

A white camellia was placed in her loosened red-gold hair. Excitement brightened her cheeks and eyes.

Samuels had made all the arrangements and Livia merely had to obey. But she was nervous as the car inched its way to the long red carpet and the banks of flowers. A corps of publicity men immediately surrounded them. The star with whom she would walk up the carpet to the microphone waited. She had expected to escape unnoticed into the theater But she was recognized and the crowd roared her name and her companion's while they walked on the seemingly endless carpet to the microphone.

"Smile at them," the star whispered Livia, her heart beating fast, turned her head and smiled at the blurred heads on the bleachers. How long ago was it that she, too, was a face in the bleachers, dreaming that one day she would walk down the carpet, a star among stars?

And Bruce—where was he now? She thought she saw him in the front row of the bleachers, but wasn't sure. She waved anyway, and was rewarded with a howl of delight from a hundred adolescents.

She stopped when she saw Alice Delaware Hal Schneider, her husband, was a few steps away. He was trying to indicate to Alice that she had already spoken overlong at the microphone She glared at him, then turned with a sugary smile back at the microphone.

"Good-bye, everyone," Alice cooed and stumbled over her dress.

"And now," shouted the announcer, "I want to introduce you to Hollywood's newest star and the heroine of our picture tonight."

Urge Teaching of Conservation In Ohio Schools

COLUMBUS —(ANS)— In a joint report to Governor John Bricker, Conservation Commissioner Don Waters and State Education Director Kenneth Ray, announced that the teaching of conservation in the schools of Ohio, the goal of a jointly sponsored program set up about two years ago, becomes a reality with the distribution to the schools of Ohio of "Conservation for Tomorrow's America," a new book now on the press.

The first of several contemplated units, it is full of helpful teaching materials and suggestions and was prepared especially for junior and senior high school teachers.

Those in charge of the conservation education program state that they are not urging that conservation be taught as a separate course, pointing out that every teacher has an opportunity to teach it through the integration of this material in the various subjects taught.

THEATERS

Emotional Drama.

"Now, Voyager," Bette Davis' starring vehicle at the Ohio, tells the dramatic story of a young woman who is crushed and oppressed by a New England family especially a tyrannical mother. Dowdy and unattractive, her every ambition frustrated, the girl is aided by a psychiatrist to escape the environment that binds her. Claude Rains has the role of the phychiatrist while Paul Henreid plays the young man with whom the girl falls in love while aboard ship. Gladys Cooper and Ilka Chase are in the cast.

Society Comedy.

A family of high society gains the spotlight in an unusual way in the Ritz comedy, "The Affairs of Martha" featuring Marsha Hunt, Richard Carlson and Marjorie Main. The goings-on within the family circle furnish a talent mad material for a book and the general newspaper announcement that such a book is to be published causes no end of consternation. Marsha Hunt plays the maid, Richard Carlson the role of her husband and others in the cast include Margaret Hamilton. "Law of the Timber," with Marjorie Reynolds and Monte Blue is the second feature.

Entertainers Featured.

"Hi Neighbor," showing at the Park is filled with such stars as Lulubelle and Scotty, Vera Vague and Roy Acuff and his Smoky Mountain boys. The plot revolves around the efforts of a professor, played by Pappy Cheshire, to preserve a small mountain college over which he presides. "Flying Tigers," sharing the bill, is an action-filled story concerning the American Volunteer Corps that help protect the Burma road. John Wayne, John Carroll and Anna Lee are in the cast.

Detective Melodrama.

A new "Lone Wolf" adventure is depicted in "Counter-Espionage" the Madison attraction opening today with Warren William in the leading role as a suave detective who has London at his feet and cops at his heels. This time he is trailing Nazi spies. Hillard Brooks, Eric Blore, Thurston Hall and Billy Bevan are in the cast. "Wings and the Woman," a story of Amy Mollison, the aviatrix, and her husband, is the second picture. Anna Neagle has the lead.

PLANE HELPS LOCATE COWS

KEENE, N. H. (INS)— One New Hampshire farmer at least will conclude that the airplane is an up an coming thing.

When the farmer in question stopped his truck to aid a motorist in trouble two cows in his vehicle went the way of the gypsy. The farmer had small hope of ever seeing the cows again after a long and fruitless search.

Following the dictates of a happy hunch, he made a reconnaissance of the countryside by plane, and within a few hours the two cows were gracing his barn once more.

PLUS NONRESTRICTED MEATS:
(As available)

Meats shown—(left to right)—Shoulder lamb roast (2 lbs.), beef pot roast (2½ lbs.), pork tenderloin (1¼ lbs.), sliced bacon (½ lb.), lamb stew (1½ lbs.), veal chops (1 lb.), ground beef (1¼ lbs.). Your meat man can suggest other assortments of available meats.

Only a strong people under the best of nutritive conditions can win the war and rebuild a war-torn world.

For good nutrition it universally is recognized that meat should be eaten at least once a day.

Meat is man's outstanding protein food. In addition to its complete high-quality proteins, meat supplies valuable amounts of the B vitamins—thiamine, riboflavin and niacin—as well as the necessary minerals, iron, copper and phosphorus.

To make sure that our fighters and our allies get the meat they must have, the government is asking civilians to limit their meat consumption voluntarily to 2½ lbs. per week for each adult or child over 12; 1½ lbs. for each child of 6 to 12; ¾ lb. for each child under 6 years of age.

You have a moral contract with 128 million other Americans not in uniform to give them an equal chance at the available meat supply.

Here are simple ways to stay within your allotment and still keep the good nutrition and good flavor of "meat on the table."

1. "Manage your meat." Distribute it over the week. Your meat-man will help you plan meat and sausage selections.
2. Learn more cuts of meat—learn to make delicious dishes out of available cuts, even if you haven't served them before.
3. Use more nonrestricted meats (as available) including the Variety Meats—liver, sweetbreads, kidneys, brains, tripe and hearts. Learn how to prepare them deliciously for rounding out meals each week for growing children—and grownups as well.
4. Spread the good nutrition and flavor of meat by combining with such foods as cereals, rice, noodles, dumplings, macaroni, spaghetti, potatoes and other vegetables.
5. Plan leftovers carefully for use in such dishes as stew, hash, croquettes, soufflés and chop suey.
6. Remember meat goes further when cooked at moderate, even temperatures.
7. Send for the booklets shown below.

THESE BOOKLETS WILL HELP YOU

1. "32 Tested Meat Recipes"—Step-by-step recipes and complete menus.
2. New Edition of "Meat Buying Guide for Thrifty Meals"—Purse size—48 page handbook of more than 80 meat cuts. What to ask for, how to prepare, what to serve with them and easy ways to plan meals for good nutrition.

FOR BOTH BOOKS, send 5c in coin to AMERICAN MEAT INSTITUTE, Dept. 10, Lock Box 1133, Chicago, Ill.

Why we must share

The Foods Requirement Committee of the War Production Board has asked civilian consumers to limit their use of meat to 2½ pounds of meat per person per week—on a voluntary basis. Why? The answer is simple.

The meat packing industry, now serving three customers—the American armed forces, our fighting allies and the domestic civilian population—has converted from normal peacetime operations to an all-out effort for victory.

The Army, Navy, and Lend-lease come first. For victory, civilians must share what is left. Patriotic citizens prefer to follow the American way—of choosing to share. The "Share the Meat" Program is based on the honor system; it is a voluntary plan.
